Dear Mr. Raborn: STATINTL

STATINTL

On behalf of the Staff and Faculty of the United States Army Intelligence School, I am pleased to express my appreciation for another superior presentation by [REDACTED] at Fort Holabird, on 14 February 1966, to personnel attending the current Senior Foreign Officer Intelligence Course.

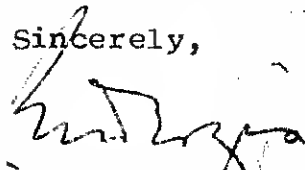

STATINTL

[REDACTED] informative discussion on the meaning, make-up, and scope of economic data in military intelligence and its relationship to other components of strategic intelligence was accepted with an unusually high degree of enthusiasm by our Senior Foreign Officers. His ability to key his presentation to their particular areas of interest greatly increased the effectiveness of the presentation and resulted in motivating them to actively participate in very interesting discussions.

STATINTL

Thank you for your continued cooperation in our guest speaker program. Would you please convey to [REDACTED] the sincere appreciation of the Staff and Faculty.

Sincerely,

PETER N. DERZIS
Colonel, AIG
